MINERS INSIST ON AN ADVANCE

Meet in Indianapolis to Discuss Wage Problem.

CONTRACTS EXPIRE MARCH 31

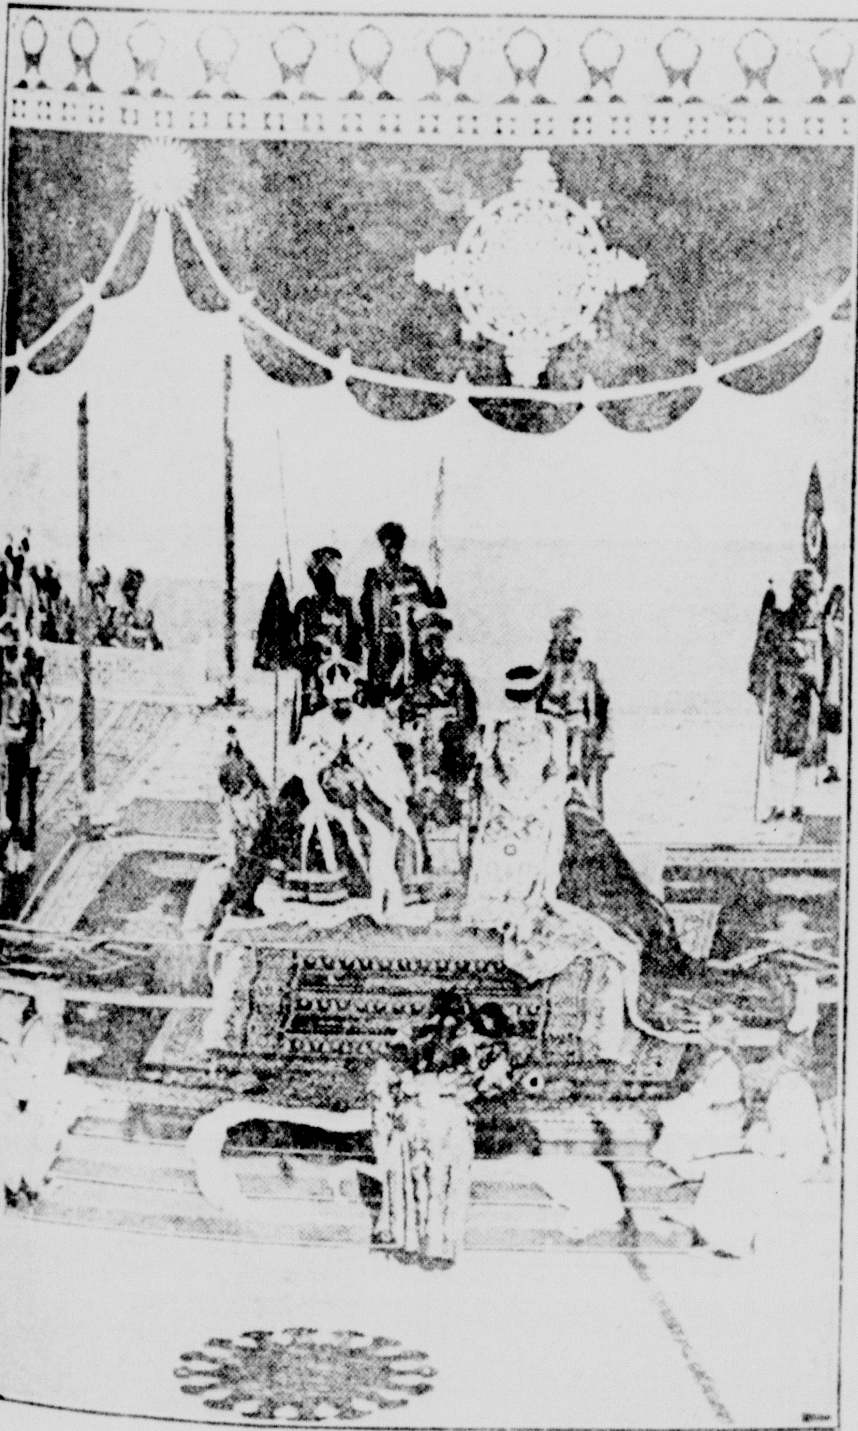

For First Time in History Coal Diggers in Anthracite and Bituminous Fields Will Negotiate New Agreements With Operators at Same Time—White's Election to Presidency of International Union Presided by 40,000 Majority.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 16.—Delegates to the national convention of the United Mine Workers of America to the number of 1,300 today convened in the initial session of what promises to be one of the most important gatherings in the history of the organization.

The leading miners from every state are in expressing a determination to demand an increased wage scale, but they differ radically in the amount that will be demanded, some of them wanting as high as 20 and others as low as 5 per cent advance.

The vast importance of the convention is emphasized by the fact that it is the last time that the miners will meet before the expiration of their contracts.

IDEA TOO NEW. A HURRY CALL SENT BY TAFT

Hitchcock Says His Intentions Were All Right.

HAD SUDDEN BUSINESS CALL

After Postmaster General Answers Bid to White House and Confers With President, Statement Is Issued Saying That Proposition For Government to Purchase Telegraph Lines Was Considered Year Ago, but Action Delayed.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock made a hurried trip to the White House in response to a summons from President Taft, who was somewhat anxious for an explanation of his conduct in having announced, without first having consulted him, that he would recommend to congress the taking over by the United States government of all the telegraph lines of the country. Mr. Hitchcock replied that he had intended to confer with Mr. Taft on the subject, but after having made arrangements for publication was hurriedly called out of town. He recalled to Mr. Taft's mind that he had discussed the government ownership question with him a year ago, when he (Hitchcock) had embodied it in a preliminary draft of his annual report.

President Taft accepted Mr. Hitchcock's explanation and the talk of an immediate break between them has been allayed. It remains, however, for President Taft still to say whether he will accept or reject Postmaster General Hitchcock's recommendation for government ownership of telegraph lines. Everything in President Taft's record of utterances indicates that he will reject it. He has declared repeatedly against the government ownership idea as applied to the railroads of the country on the ground that it would place too great a power in the hands of the president.

After Postmaster General Hitchcock's conference with President Taft the White House issued a statement which obviously was intended to help Mr. Hitchcock out of an embarrassing situation. At the same time President Taft scrupulously refrained from committing himself in any way in the statement in regard to the Hitchcock proposition. Here is the statement:

Action Was Delayed.
"A recommendation of the postmaster general that it would be well for the government to buy the telegraph lines and incorporate them in the postoffice system appeared in an earlier annual report submitted by him to the president. After some discussion it was decided, at the suggestion of the president, to postpone reference to the matter to another year and not to bring it forward then because of the recommendation of many other important changes, including the postal savings bank and the parcels post. These, if adopted, would take up all the energy of the postal department in making the necessary changes.

"The postmaster general intended to bring this matter to the attention of the president before the publication in advance of this part of his report. He had made preparation for publication, but was suddenly called out of town without having done so.

"His conclusion as to the wisdom of taking over the telegraph lines has been reached only after a full investigation and consideration. As the report containing the recommendation has not been submitted to the president, it has not yet been considered by him or by the cabinet with a view to presenting it to congress as an administration measure."

Newcastle, Pa., Jan. 16.—Baltimore & Ohio passenger train No. 156 ran into an open switch a few hundred yards south of Gardner avenue, in this city, and switched over into the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie tracks, crashing into P. & L. E. train No. 501, coming to the city from Pittsburgh. The trains met head-on and both engines and baggage cars were badly wrecked. Five trainmen were killed and five others injured.

Rebel Attempts Life of Yuan Shih Kai This Morning.

Peking, Jan. 16.—Two soldiers and the horses attached to the carriage were killed when a rebel hurled a bomb at Yuan Shih Kai this morning. The premier escaped.

Edict Is Promised.

London, Jan. 16.—The correspondent of the Times at Peking telegraphing to his paper says that within three or four days a momentous edict will be issued in China which will so much further than has been expected. It will not only announce the abdication of the reigning family, but will decree the establishment of a republican form of government for China, the people to elect a president. The belief is that this will cause the republic to be guarded by the people.

New Armistice Arranged.

Shanghai, Jan. 16.—An armistice has been arranged to last for a fortnight. The conditions are that neither side will attack until ordered.

Soldiers Adopt New Methods

Buckeye State Soldiers to Practice Snap-Shooting.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Ohio soldiers will be taught "snap-shooting," the method that made the Boer fire so deadly in the war against the British. This announcement was made by General A. B. Critchfield, the Buckeye state's representative on the national board for the promotion of rifle practice, after the board, in session here, had decided to eliminate the 200-yard stage in shoots to be conducted by it.

Instead of the old 200-yard event the marksmen will be required to approach the firing line with loaded rifles in the position of "trial arms." An eight-inch target will be exposed for three seconds in which the soldier must unlock his piece and fire. This performance will be repeated for 10 shots.

While General Oliver, assistant secretary of war, favors the holding of the national shoot at Camp Perry, which he regards as the best range in the world, the orders require that the shoot of 1912 be held at Sparta, Wis. The Ohio shoot will be at Camp Perry.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 16.—As the result of the turbulent actions on the part of the woolen operatives, who are now on strike to the number of 15,000, this city is almost an armed camp, martial law having been declared in factory districts. Practically all the mills in the city are shut down because of a lack of sufficient help, and there are now more than 500 militiamen under arms, five additional companies having been sent here by Adjutant General Pearson.

ACTION OF BIGELOW MEETS WITH KICK

Say Scope of Constitutional Convention is Limited.

KNIGHT TO LEAD OPPOSITION

Ohio State University Professor Has Collected Data Showing That Work Mapped Out by Rules Committee Does Not Embrace as Many Subjects as Were Considered by Other State Constitutional Conventions During Past 40 Years.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—After a recess from last Thursday Ohio's constitutional convention resumed work today. If the rules committee reports before this evening's adjournment it is predicted that Professor George W. Knight of Ohio State university will lead the fight from the floor against the list of standing committees which the rules committee has adopted. The fight is expected to open a discussion which will bring up for decision the whole question of the scope of the work of the convention.

Election Laws Slighted.
The other conventions, 10 in number, had committees on bill of rights, on executive departments, on legislative department, on education, on counties, townships and villages, on militia and kindred subjects, none of which is provided for in the report of the Ohio rules committee. In a number of those state conventions there was a committee on elective franchise.

Professor Knight has collected data showing that every state constitutional convention of the last 40 years has had a broader scope of committees except the New Hampshire convention, one of only 29 delegates, which considered most everything in committee of the whole.

The rules committee has provided a committee of 21 on short ballot and a second committee of 21 on women's suffrage, but has no committee to consider other changes in the election and voting franchise laws. No provision is made for a committee to consider election of United States senators or primary elections.

Judge T. J. Hoyt, lawyer, jurist and soldier, died at his home in Ash-tabula, O., aged 68 years.

Violet Bucher, 15-year-old Chicago heiress, who disappeared Nov. 21, has been found in New York, employed as nurse to an invalid woman.

Topsy Hartzell, for years with the Philadelphia Athletics, will manage the Toledo American's association team this year.

ORGANIZATION OF COUNCIL

Is Really Perfected at Last Night's Session.

COMMITTEES ARE APPOINTED

Mayor Smith Addresses Council on Matters of Finance---Rules Amended on Suggestion of Durant.

At the special meeting of Council Monday night all members were present with President E. J. Light in the chair. A busy session lasting over two hours was held.

The committee appointed to recommend a set of rules reported. Member Veail wanted Rule 29 of the old rules of business stricken out. This rule provides that no ordinance be acted upon by Council unless it has been in the hands of the chairman of the proper committee three days, and not before such ordinance has been referred to a standing committee.

After some discussion, during which Rothrock pointed out the importance of retaining the rule, a motion was made by Rothrock to adopt the old rules. Member Durant offered the following additional rule:

"The clerk shall certify the action of the Council to the different officers, any matter of import touching their departments." This was objected to by Clerk Flynn who said the action mentioned had always been done. It developed that there was no such rule as offered by Durant, and it was embodied in the old rules, which were then unanimously adopted.

The Safety Director, it was said, was not ready to report on the recommendation of a new fire engine. He was given more time.

President Light announced the following appointment of Standing Committees:

WAYS AND MEANS
Frank M. Rothrock, George Cox, J. E. McLean.

LAW AND ORDINANCE
J. E. McLean, Frank M. Rothrock, John Durant.

PUBLIC SERVICE
D. T. Veail, William Sheets, Geo. Cox.

PUBLIC SAFETY

FRANCHISES
George Cox, D. T. Veail, Herbert Chapman.

CLAIMS
Herbert Chapman, John Durant, William Sheets.

BOARD OF HEALTH
D. T. Veail, J. E. McLean, William Sheets.

ANNEXATION
William Sheets, Herbert Chapman, F. M. Rothrock.

The committee appointed to investigate the Board of Health bills, reported, and after considerable delay, during which the bills were discussed, a resolution transferring $400 from the General Fund to the Board of Health fund, was adopted. The bills to date total $310, with more to follow.

Some of the bills were believed to be a little too liberal, although no careful investigation was reported by the committee appointed to look into the accounts.

Veail moved that another committee be appointed on the Chestnut street matter, and that they see what amount would be necessary for the purchase of the ground over which the street is to pass. Veail, McLean and Sheets were named on the committee.

The vacancy on the Board of Cemetery trustees was called to the attention of Council, and Edmund Smith and Jerome Taylor, township trustees, were present to ascertain what action was necessary. A joint session of Council and the Trustees to make the appointment, was deemed necessary by Solicitor Rankin, and this was set for the first Monday in February at 7:00 o'clock p. m. Before this was done Taylor nominated James T. Perrill to fill the vacancy. No action was taken upon this.

A further list of appointments was announced by Mayor Smith and approved by Council. They are: Board of Health, Dr. L. L. Brock, 5 years and John Byron, 4 years. Sinking Fund Trustee, Jess W. Smith.

Mayor Smith also submitted his first semi-annual appropriation ordinance which was referred to the Ways and Means committee. The amounts recommended for the various funds are given below:

Mayor Smith then addressed Council and stated that the indications are that the amount available for conducting the city's affairs during the year would fall some $2000 short, as this was about the amount short last year, and the expense would run about the same outside of any extraordinary expense. He explained that he had not figured in the expense of hydrants and lights for the outlying districts, but recommended that Council take steps to have the lights and hydrants installed. He also made mention of the need of better fire protection and other matters.

Member Cox said he had read in The Herald that the B. & O. had made no charge for assistance rendered during night of the fire, and made a motion to have the Safety Director ascertain the charges made by the outside fire companies. This motion, together with one that Mayor Smith extend the city's thanks to the B. & O. railroad, passed by a unanimous vote.

Rothrock mentioned the recent salary boosting ordinance, stating that it appeared they were illegal, and asking the Solicitor regarding them. The solicitor tendered a lengthy opinion in which he held that the action was illegal and showed why. Rothrock then moved that the Clerk obtain an opinion from the attorney general. The motion passed.

An ordinance for the improvement of South Main street was then introduced and after some discussion, placed upon its various readings.

A petition containing several names asking that John Hill be appointed to a position on the fire department as fireman, was read and referred to the Safety Director.

ORGANIZATION OF COUNCIL

Is Really Perfected at Last Night's Session.

COMMITTEES ARE APPOINTED

Mayor Smith Addresses Council on Matters of Finance--Rules Amended on Suggestion of Durant.

At the special meeting of Council Monday night all members were present with President E. J. Light in the chair. A busy session lasting over two hours was held.

The committee appointed to recommend a set of rules reported. Member Veail wanted Rule 29 of the old rules of business stricken out. This rule provides that no ordinance be acted upon by Council unless it has been in the hands of the chairman of the proper committee three days, and not before such ordinance has been referred to a standing committee.

After some discussion, during which Rothrock pointed out the importance of retaining the rule, a motion was made by Rothrock to adopt the old rules. Member Durant offered the following additional rule: "The clerk shall certify the action of the Council to the different officers, any matter of import touching their departments." This was objected to by Clerk Flynn who said the action mentioned had always been done. It developed that there was no such rule as offered by Durant, and it was embodied in the old rules, which were then unanimously adopted.

The Safety Director, it was said, was not ready to report on the recommendation of a new fire engine. He was given more time.

President Light announced the following appointment of Standing Committees:

WAYS AND MEANS

Frank M. Rothrock, George Cox, J. E. McLean.

LAW AND ORDINANCE

J. E. McLean, Frank M. Rothrock, John Durant.

PUBLIC SERVICE

D. T. Veail, William Sheets, Geo. Cox.

PUBLIC SAFETY

John Durant, George Cox, Herbert Chapman.

FRANCHISES

George Cox, D. T. Veail, Herbert Chapman.

CLAIMS

Herbert Chapman, John Durant, William Sheets.

BOARD OF HEALTH

D. T. Veail, J. E. McLean, William Sheets.

ANNEXATION

William Sheets, Herbert Chapman, F. M. Rothrock.

The committee appointed to investigate the Board of Health bills, reported, and after considerable delay, during which the bills were discussed, a resolution transferring $400 from the General Fund to the Board of Health fund, was adopted. The bills to date total $310, with more to follow.

Some of the bills were believed to be a little too liberal, although no careful investigation was reported by the committee appointed to look into the accounts.

Veail moved that another committee be appointed on the Chestnut street matter, and that they see what amount would be necessary for the purchase of the ground over which the street is to pass. Veail, McLean and Sheets were named on the committee.

The vacancy on the Board of Cemetery trustees was called to the attention of Council, and Edmund Smith and Jerome Taylor, township trustees, were present to ascertain what action was necessary. A joint session of Council and the Trustees to make the appointment, was deemed necessary by Solicitor Rankin, and this was set for the first Monday in February at 7:00 o'clock p. m. Before this was done Taylor nominated James T. Perrill to fill the vacancy. No action was taken upon this.

A further list of appointments was announced by Mayor Smith and approved by Council. They are: Board of Health, Dr. L. L. Brock, 5 years and John Byron, 4 years. Sinking Fund Trustee, Jess W. Smith.

Mayor Smith also submitted his first semi-annual appropriation ordinance which was referred to the Ways and Means committee. The amounts recommended for the various funds are given below:

DISCUSS WOOL TARIFF

Ohio Growers Mourn Decrease in Registered Stock.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—That there was a falling off in the registration of blooded sheep in Ohio in excess of 2,000 during the last year, as a direct result of the tariff agitation, was the statement made at the meeting of the American Merino and Delaine Sheep association.

Ex-Governor Frank Gooding of Idaho, president of the National Woolgrowers' association, was present and discussed the tariff on wool at some length. He advocates that wool be placed on a specific basis of a scored pound unit. He said sheep men should stand by the report of the tariff commission and that the report submitted by it was fair and just.

A peculiar incident is related in connection with the wreck at Orient last Friday afternoon. Brakeman Schwartz of No. 197, tried to flag the oncoming train, but it dashed by him and crashed into his train.

None too soon he reached the shelter of a nearby tree for the steer was almost upon him before he discovered it. From his vantage point on one of the lower limbs he called for assistance but it was fifteen or twenty minutes before trainmen, assisted by farmers who had rushed to the scene of the wreck, could drive the brute away.

DEED TRAVELED FAR

For the Signatures of the Several Grantors.

ONE GRANTOR SIGNED IN PERSIA

Mr. G. W. Inskeep Receives Deed Which Was in Transit From September 30 to June 15 for Signatures and Acknowledgements.

On Monday, Jan. 15th, Mr. G. W. Inskeep received the deed for 98 acres and five poles of land near Leesburg, but in this county known as the Charles Van Pelt farm.

Thereby hangs a tale.

During his life time Mr. Van Pelt deeded the land to his daughter, Mrs. Sarah C. Douglas and her heirs. Mr. Inskeep purchased the land of Mrs. Douglas and it became necessary that the children sign the deed.

The acknowledgements appended to this deed furnish a striking illustration of how far one family can become scattered.

The first acknowledgement was taken before a notary in Highland county; the second before John Tyler the American consul in Persia, with a stamp fee of $2.00 attached; the third found its way to New York county, N. Y., and the fourth to Teller county, Colorado, while the fifth was taken before a notary in Cook county, Illinois.

From the last day of September, 1911, up to January 15, 1912, the deed was traveling all over the world for the signatures of the various heirs. Among widely differing peoples and countries the desired deed to a Fayette county farm had to find its way and its acknowledgements came back bearing the trace of diversified legal forms. All of the acknowledgements were made correctly except one that was made at Chicago, and which had to be taken over on account of the lack of one signature.

Probably no farm deed in the county has had to travel as far and necessitate as much time and trouble as the one which came back from its long tour to Mr. Inskeep, Monday.

Interesting indeed would be the story of the family, which in its descendants has branched out to all corners of the world.

A description of the man was given and the information turned over to patrolman Robert Cogswell, who soon located the fellow and towed him to the mayor's office.

He had purchased a ticket to Richmond Dale, Ross county.

To Mayor Smith he gave the name of James Eggleston, but had little to say about the alleged case of forgery, in which he is said to have passed a bad check for about $10.

Brakeman Treed By Angry Steer

A peculiar incident is related in connection with the wreck at Orient last Friday afternoon. Brakeman Schwartz of No. 197, tried to flag the oncoming train, but it dashed by him and crashed into his train.

Standing horror-stricken, an eye witness to the terrible tragedy, he was suddenly recalled to action by the sight of a maddened steer which had escaped from one of the cattle cars rushing toward him attracted and infuriated by the red flag which he still carried in his hand.

None too soon he reached the shelter of a nearby tree for the steer was almost upon him before he discovered it. From his vantage point on one of the lower limbs he called for assistance but it was fifteen or twenty minutes before trainmen, assisted by farmers, who had rushed to the scene of the wreck, could drive the brute away.

DEED TRAVELED FAR

For the Signatures of the Several Grantors.

ONE GRANTOR SIGNED IN PERSIA

Mr. G. W. Inskeep Receives Deed Which Was in Transit From September 30 to June 15 for Signatures and Acknowledgements.

On Monday, Jan. 15th, Mr. G. W. Inskeep received the deed for 98 acres and five poles of land near Leesport, but in this county known as the Charles Van Pelt farm.

Thereby hangs a tale.

During his life time Mr. Van Pelt deeded the land to his daughter, Mrs. Sarah C. Douglas and her heirs. Mr. Inskeep purchased the land of Mrs. Douglas and it became necessary that the children sign the deed.

The acknowledgements appended to this deed furnish a striking illustration of how far one family can become scattered.

The first acknowledgement was taken before a notary in Highland county; the second before John Tyler the American consul in Persia, with a stamp fee of $2.00 attached; the third found its way to New York county, N. Y., and the fourth to Teller county, Colorado, while the fifth was taken before a notary in Cook county, Illinois.

From the last day of September, 1911, up to January 15, 1912, the deed was traveling all over the world for the signatures of the various heirs. Among widely differing peoples and countries the desired deed to a Fayette county farm had to find its way and its acknowledgements came back bearing the trace of diversified legal forms. All of the acknowledgements were made correctly except one that was made at Chicago, and which had to be taken over on account of the lack of one signature.

Probably no farm deed in the county has had to travel as far and necessitate as much time and trouble as the one which came back from its long tour to Mr. Inskeep, Monday.

Interesting indeed would be the story of the family, which in its descendants has branched out to all corners of the world.

WINTERS—NOW AND THEN.

Have we lost the stamina of our forefathers, the hardihood of former generations which brushed snow off the bed covers when it sifted down through cracks in the roof, dressed in cold rooms, broke an inch of ice in the water bucket, washed, did the chores, and ate mightily of pork sausage and cakes? They had winters in those days. They had them without steam heat, electrically warmed street cars, comfortable means of locomotion, comfortable places of work, and comfortable places of habitation.

They accepted a winter as a winter and did not make a great fuss about it. Even later, when the snow had no chance to sift through the roof and when the hardwood heater or the glowing base burner supplied a measure of heat all night long, they accepted "below zero" as a thing of nature's ordering and thought nothing particular of it.

It must be conceded that we shiver extraordinarily, protest prodigiously, comment complainingly, fuss extravagantly, and make "zero weather" a dire phenomenon. The indictment of hardihood seems true, but we can sustain a plea of "not guilty."

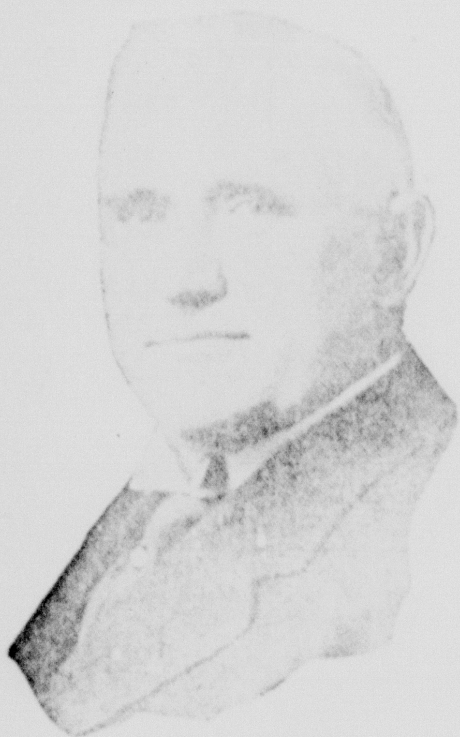

If one of our hardy ancestors had been asked to go through a winter in the habiliments of his grandsons or great-grandsons, or if the woman of '30, '40 or '60 had been asked to dress as her granddaughters, the sturdy patriot would have taken an ax handle and the amiable dame a mop to the person indiscreet enough to mention the matter.

They recognized that winter was winter. They used wools and furs. What they had for underclothing would make half the complete modern attire of the person of ordinary modern business pursuits. Their stockings were nearly as warm as the entire modern footgear. They used fur caps and pulled them down over their ears.

They had enormous mufflers to be wound around and around the chest and neck. They wore heavy mittens, not gloves; boots or "arties," not merely thin shoes. Our teamsters dress that way now. They must if they would keep from freezing. In small towns and in the country the distinctive winter costume may be found, but the city man puts on an overcoat and considers himself clad for "below zero." And the modern woman, with all her furs, is a Spartan.

We have ignored winter. We have conquered its zero rigors to such an extent in housing and means of locomotion that we make no adequate provision against extraordinary severity. Therefore, when we are exposed a half hour or so to the assaults of a genuine winter wind, we shiver and complain mightily. Our forbears would regard us with astonishment and amusement. They knew that winter was cold. We endeavor to ignore this established fact. —Chicago Daily Tribune.

Shall Our Country "Buy Its Merchant Marine Afloat?"

Is England to Build Our Ships?

By the Secretary of the American Merchant Marine Association

RECENTLY a British shipowner, Howard Harbord, was quoted as saying:

ALEXANDER R. SMITH: "There is one thing certain, and that is if the Panama canal is to be a success the navigation laws of the United States must be changed. One of the first alterations should be to allow foreign built ships to be placed under the American flag."

During all of the period that it COST MORE to build ships in British shipyards Britons were DENIED THE RIGHT TO PLACE FOREIGN BUILT SHIPS UNDER THE BRITISH FLAG. With the advent of the iron ships Great Britain succeeded in building ships more cheaply than other nations, and it was not until THEN that Britons were permitted to place foreign built ships under the "red ensign."

As soon as there is a reasonable fear that ships cannot be built more cheaply in British than in other nations' shipyards it is likely that British registry will be confined to British built ships.

The author of our Declaration of Independence, Thomas Jefferson, so long ago as 1793, in discussing this subject said:

For a navigating people to purchase its marine advent would be a strange speculation, as the mariner would always be dependent upon the merchants furnishing them. Placing as a reserve with a foreign nation or in a foreign shipyard the carpenters, blacksmiths, calkers, sailmakers and the vessels of a nation would be a singular commercial combination. We must, therefore, build them for ourselves.

Observant of Jefferson's warning, the laws of the United States have since the first congress DENIED AMERICAN REGISTRY TO FOREIGN BUILT VESSELS. Thanks to that provision, we have 12,000,000 tons of domestic shipping, all home built. SHALL WE LET ENGLAND BUILD ITS SUCCESSORS?

Poetry—Today

"WHAT CONSTITUTES A STATE."

What constitutes a state?
Not high-raised battlement or labor-ed mound,
Thick wall or gilded gate;
Not cities proud with spires and turrets crowned;
Not bays and broad-armed ports,
Where, laughing at the storm, rich navies ride;
Not starred and spangled courts,
Where low-browed business wafts perfume to pride.

No, men, high-minded men,
With powers as far above dull brutes as endued,
In forest, brake or den,
As beasts excel cold rocks and unfeeling trees;
Men, who their duties know,
But know their rights, and knowing dare maintain,
Prevent the long-aimed blow,
And crush the tyrant while they rend the chain;
These constitute a state!
—Sir William Jones

Senate Opens Doors

Will Discuss President's Peace Treaties in Public.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The senate in executive session, by a vote of 58 to 8, decided to debate the pending arbitration treaties, or so-called "peace" treaties, with Great Britain and France in open senate. This conclusion was reached after a stormy debate in which the president and secretary of state were severely criticized. Senator Lodge led the fight for keeping the debate behind closed doors, while Senator Rayner and others demanded that the doors of the senate be open and that the debate proceed publicly.

son when Mayor Scanlon appeared to Governor Fox.

Police Commissioner Lynch put out word that there would be shooting to kill if the strikers attacked their tactics.

At a conference with Mayor Scanlon, Francis J. Ketter of New York declared the strikers demand an increase of 15 per cent in wages and abolition of the premium system double pay for all overtime work.

These demands are something more than the strike was started as a protest against not being paid for 54 hours' work although labor for 54 hours was performed, in consequence of the new law.

Bayonets Used Freely.

Bayonets were used when two companies of infantry and a battery of artillery that had been waiting in the armory were called on because the rioters refused to be moved by bullets fired over their heads by policemen and had responded in kind. Only one person was seriously injured in the clash. This was a Syrian boy, who received a bayonet thrust in the side and may not survive.

There was an attack made upon the Champion paper mills, one of the International Paper company plants, by strikers from the woolen mills. Several gates were broken down and windows smashed before the rioters were dispersed. It appears to be the aim of the strikers to induce, either by force or otherwise, every man employed here to go out. About 50,000 people are practically idle now.

WINTERS—NOW AND THEN

Have we lost the stamina of our forefathers, the hardihood of former generations which brushed snow off the bed covers when it sifted down through cracks in the roof, dressed in cold rooms, broke an inch of ice in the water bucket, washed, did the chores, and ate mightily of pork sausage and cakes? They had winters in those days. They had them without steam heat, electrically warmed street cars, comfortable means of locomotion, comfortable places of work, and comfortable places of habitation.

They accepted a winter as a winter and did not make a great fuss about it. Even later, when the snow had no chance to sift through the roof and when the hardwood heater or the glowing base burner supplied a measure of heat all night long, they accepted "below zero" as a thing of nature's ordering and thought nothing particular of it.

It must be conceded that we shiver extraordinarily, protest prodigiously, comment complainingly, fuss extravagantly, and make "zero weather" a dire phenomenon. The indictment of hardihood seems true, but we can sustain a plea of "not guilty."

If one of our hardy ancestors had been asked to go through a winter in the habiliments of his grandsons or great-grandsons, or if the woman of '30, '40 or '60 had been asked to dress as her granddaughters, the sturdy patriot would have taken an ax handle and the amiable dame a mop to the person indiscreet enough to mention the matter.

They recognized that winter was winter. They used wools and furs. What they had for underclothing would make half the complete modern attire of the person of ordinary modern business pursuits. Their stockings were nearly as warm as the entire modern footgear. They used fur caps and pulled them down over their ears.

They had enormous mufflers to be wound around and around the chest and neck. They wore heavy mittens, not gloves; boots or "arties," not merely thin shoes. Our teamsters dress that way now. They must if they would keep from freezing. In small towns and in the country the distinctive winter costume may be found, but the city man puts on an overcoat and considers himself clad for "below zero." And the modern woman, with all her furs, is a Spartan.

We have ignored winter. We have conquered its zero rigors to such an extent in housing and means of locomotion that we make no adequate provision against extraordinary severity. Therefore, when we are exposed a half hour or so to the assaults of a genuine winter wind, we shiver and complain mightily. Our forebears would regard us with astonishment and amusement. They knew that winter was cold. We endeavor to ignore this established fact. — Chicago Daily Tribune.

Shall Our Country "Buy Its Merchant Marine Afloat?"

Is England to Build Our Ships?

By the Secretary of the American Merchant Marine Association

RECENTLY a British shipowner, Howard Harbison, was quoted as saying:

There is one thing certain, and that is if the Panama canal is to be a success the navigation laws of the United States must be changed. One of the first alterations should be to allow foreign built ships to be placed under the American flag.

During all of the period that it COST MORE to build ships in British shipyards Britons were DENIED THE RIGHT TO PLACE FOREIGN BUILT SHIPS UNDER THE BRITISH FLAG. With the advent of the iron ships Great Britain succeeded in building ships more cheaply than other nations, and it was not until THEN that Britons were permitted to place foreign built ships under the "red ensign."

As soon as there is a reasonable fear that ships cannot be built more cheaply in British than in other nations' shipyards it is likely that British registry will be confined to British built ships.

The author of our Declaration of Independence, Thomas Jefferson, so long ago as 1793, in discussing this subject said:

For a navigating people to purchase its marine about would be a strange speculation, as the mariner would always be dependent upon the merchants furnishing them. Placing as a reserve with a foreign nation or in a foreign shipyard the carpenters, blacksmiths, caulkers, sailmakers and the vessels of a nation would be a singular commercial combination. We must, therefore, build them for ourselves.

Observant of Jefferson's warning, the laws of the United States have since the first congress DENIED AMERICAN REGISTRY TO FOREIGN BUILT VESSELS. Thanks to that provision, we have 12,000,000 tons of domestic shipping, all home built. SHALL WE LET ENGLAND BUILD ITS SUCCESSORS?

Poetry—Today

"WHAT CONSTITUTES A STATE?"

What constitutes a state?
Not high-raised battlement or labored mound,
Thick wall or moated gate,
Not cities proud with spires and turrets crowned;
Not bays and broad-armed ports,
Where, laughing at the storm, rich
navies ride;
Not starred and spangled courts,
Where low-browed baseness waits perfume to pride.

No men, high-minded men,
With powers as far above dull brutes
endued,
In forest, brake or den,
As beasts caper cold rocks and brum-
bles rude,
Men who their duties know,
But know their rights, and knowing dare maintain,
Present the long-aimed blow,
And crush the tyrant while they rend
the chain;
These constitute a state!
— Sir William Jones

Senate Opens Doors

Will Discuss President's Peace Treaties in Public

Washington, Jan. 16.—The senate in executive session, by a vote of 58 to 8, decided to debate the pending arbitration treaties, or so-called "peace" treaties, with Great Britain and France in open senate. This conclusion was reached after a stormy debate in which the president and secretary of state were severely criticized. Senator Lodge led the fight for keeping the debate behind closed doors while Senator Rayner and others demanded that the doors of the senate be open and that the debate proceed publicly.

Miners Insist

vention this year to the more than a quarter of a million union miners is largely in the fact that for the first time in the history of the organization the wage scale agreements in both the anthracite and bituminous mining fields will expire March 31, and new wage scale agreements will have to be negotiated before that time. This means that the convention will have to determine a scale for the central competitive bituminous field and make recommendations for the wage scale to be negotiated at the conference of the anthracite operators and miners.

Will Insist on Advance.

The miners will insist on an advance in the mining wage scale, because they say the cost of living has increased greatly in the last 10 years while their wages have remained the same under the award of the anthracite commission. It is expected that the anthracite miners will be supported in this demand for an increase by all of the members of the miners' organizations, with all of their resources.

There is no longer any doubt as to the result of the election. According to the best obtainable information John P. White is re-elected president over Thomas L. Lewis, former president, by a majority of something like 10,000, and the majority of P. J. Hayes for reelection as vice president over Samuel Pascoe of Illinois is about the same.

CHICAGO POLICE MONUMENT

Stands in Memory of Those Killed in Haymarket Riot Twenty-Five Years Ago.

Chicago—Most readers probably have read of the Haymarket riot which occurred in Chicago twenty-five years ago. During this trouble the first bomb was thrown in Chicago. Seven policemen were killed and many persons injured. The death sentence was given to four men, and three were sent to prison. Shortly after a monument of a policeman was erected in memory of those who lost their lives. The inscription carved on the side of the monument reads:

Chicago Haymarket Memorial.

"In the name of the people of Illinois I command peace."

That this sentence is not taken very seriously by the present day bomb throwers can readily be seen from the fact that in the past five years more than 100 bombs have been exploded in Chicago, causing thousands of dollars in damage and no one has been convicted for these outrages. The police attribute some of the bombs to rival gambling organizations, others to labor troubles and the greater portion to the "Black Hand."

Revere House Is Swept By Flames

Fireman Loses Life in Disastrous Boston Fire.

Boston, Jan. 16.—Fire early today practically destroyed the Revere House, in Bowdoin square, one of Boston's most famous hotels.

One life is known to have been lost, and it is feared that there may be bodies in the ruins. Three hundred guests were sleeping in the hotel when the flames were discovered in the lobby, a dining room on the ground floor.

Firemen, policemen and private citizens rushed through the building dragging the guests from their beds and hurrying them to the street.

The dead man is a fireman, who fell from a 65-foot ladder and landed on a picket fence.

NEWS FROM BUCKEYE CITIES

Must Work For Lodgings.

Upper Sandusky, O., Jan. 16.—Upper Sandusky is to have, each night of the winter, a tramp fire department. Heretofore it has been the custom to give shelter in the city prison to all persons applying there during unfavorable weather. These sleepers number from six to 20 each night. Cleanliness not being one of their characteristics their continual habitation of the city prison made the small room a most unsanitary place. So it was decided to heat the large room of the city building, used as a room for the fire-fighting apparatus, and give them lodging there in return for which they will be expected to assist the local department in fighting fires.

Wreck Victims May Die.

Kenton, O., Jan. 16.—Of the 32 passengers and trainmen injured in the wreck of the Detroit-Cincinnati train on the Big Four railroad, three are said to have small chance for recovery. W. H. Franklin of Detroit, C. E. Kelly of Ann Arbor, Mich., and John Moonlight, a Hungarian, in a local hospital are probably fatally injured.

Poison Theory Exploded.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—The report of Chemist O. S. Mackworth, stating that no arsenic was contained in the pancake flour which was thought to have poisoned Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Doerster at Lancaster, blasted the theory held by counsel for Mrs. Nancy Hall, accused of poisoning her daughter Ruth, 12, that both sacks of flour could have contained the poison before they were bought. The same brand of flour was used by both families.

Nap Fatal to Woman.

Athens, O., Jan. 16.—While Mrs. John Rogers, 25, was sitting before a fire warming her 15-month-old baby, she fell asleep and sparks from the grate ignited her clothing. The baby escaped injury, but the woman was so badly burned that she died in a few hours.

Lancaster Buildings Burn.

Lancaster, O., Jan. 16.—A fire that originated in the vicinity of some stores in the middle of the Martin Hardware company's building, caused a fire whose damage is easily $50,000. Both the Martin store and that of the Strupel Furniture company adjoining are total losses.

Crushed Under Train.

Zanesville, O., Jan. 16.—Ralph Grandstaff, 17, an apprentice at the Baltimore & Ohio shops, was ground to shreds in the local yards when he slipped and fell in front of a yard engine.

Fire Endangers Many Lives.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 16.—Fire which broke out in the five-story building occupied by Browning, King & Company, clothiers, and the Miller Millinery company, in Euclid avenue, in the heart of the retail district, endangered the lives of scores of persons and caused $200,000 loss.

Fitch's Grains of Health

The Coffee Substitute With the Coffee Taste

It took fourteen years to perfect Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH—the best and most substantial. Brilliant chemists joined their labors with coffee experts from the great plantations—men who have had a lifetime of experience with coffee—who know coffee from the seed to the cup.

They had a big idea. It was not to find something to take the place of coffee—but how to treat coffee so that the harm would be left out and the matchless taste and flavor kept in.

A Fascinating Story of Science and Perseverance

Everybody knows that the principle in coffee which causes all the harm is caffeine. It is caffeine that affects the heart, through caffeine can be taken without the harm.

How to neutralize or take out the caffeine without destroying the coffee taste was the task of these chemists and coffee experts.

They succeeded! They did more! They added natural health-building elements that correct all of the digestive system and tone up the entire system. The perfect result is Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH.

It is a very simple combination. "Yes," you say, "you won't find one thing detrimental to health."

Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH has a special high-grade blend of coffee in it, but so combined with herbs, roots and vegetables that the caffeine is counteracted.

Even children can drink all they want of it without the least bad effect.

Note the Good Effects of Fitch's Grains of Health

The herbs, roots and vegetables in Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH give it a positive remedial effect.

We have multitudes of testimonials—some from distinguished physicians—to show that Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH specially alleviates Indigestion, Heartburn, Sour Stomach, Bileousness, Sick Headache, Constipation, etc.

One of the ill effects of coffee drinking is constipation.

If your grocer cannot supply you, write us, mentioning his name, and we will send you a generous sample package of Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH (enough to serve a large family at breakfast) and a booklet telling you all about Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. Enclose 6 cents in stamps for postage.

Boston, Jan. 16.—Fire early today practically destroyed the Revere House, in Bowdoin square, one of Boston's most famous hotels.
One life is known to have been lost, and it is feared that there may be bodies in the ruins. Three hundred guests were sleeping in the hotel when the flames were discovered in the grove, a dining room on the ground floor.
Firemen, policemen and private citizens rushed through the building dragging the guests from their beds and hurrying them to the street.
The dead man is a fireman, who fell from a 60-foot ladder and landed on a picket fence.

Chicago. Most readers probably have read of the Haymarket riot which occurred in Chicago twenty-five years ago. During this trouble the first bomb was thrown in Chicago. Seven policemen were killed and many persons injured. The death sentence was given to four men and three were sent to prison. Shortly after a monument of a policeman was erected in memory of those who lost their lives. The inscription carved on the side of the monument reads:

Upper Sandusky, O., Jan. 16.—Upper Sandusky is to have, each night of the winter, a tramp fire department. Hereafter it has been the custom to give shelter in the city prison to all persons applying there during unfavorable weather. These sleepers number from six to 20 each night. Cleanliness not being one of their characteristics their continual habitation of the city prison made the small room a most unsanitary place. So it was decided to heat the large room of the city building, used as a room for the fire-fighting apparatus, and give them lodging there in return for which they will be expected to assist the local department in fighting fires.

Body Lay Undiscovered For Nearly Three Weeks

According to the confession of Henry Hagelgan, now confined in the Circleville prison for causing the murder of his sister, Fannie Hagelgan, the murdered woman's body remained undiscovered for three weeks, and every day during that time he was momentarily expecting news of the discovery.

Hagelgan's confession covers nine closely typewritten pages, and was taken down just as he gave it in full Sunday. He told the story in detail as it was told to him by the two McKinley brothers whom he says he paid to murder his sister, and whom he further claims murdered the farm hand, Frank Coltz.

The McKinleys deny their guilt, but the web of evidence is still more closely enveloping them outside of the confession of Hagelgan. The two men have not borne the best of reputations in the neighborhood.

At the time McKinley is alleged to have received the blood money paid him by Hagelgan, he is said to have appeared at a bank in Mt. Sterling and wanted to deposit the amount in his son's name.

The grand jury will investigate the cases this week, and still more sensational developments are expected at any hour.

Body Lay Undiscovered For Nearly Three Weeks

According to the confession of Henry Hagelganx, now confined in the Circleville prison for causing the murder of his sister, Fannie Hagelganx, the murdered woman's body remained undiscovered for three weeks, and every day during that time he was momentarily expecting news of the discovery.

Hagelganx's confession covers nineteen closely typewritten pages, and was taken down just as he gave it in jail Sunday. He told the story in detail as it was told to him by the two McKinley brothers whom he says he paid to murder his sister, and whom he further claims murdered the farm hand, Frank Coltz.

The McKinleys deny their guilt, but the web of evidence is still more closely enveloping them outside of the confession of Hagelganx. The two men have not borne the best of reputations in the neighborhood.

At the time McKinley is alleged to have received the blood money paid him by Hagelganx, he is said to have appeared at a bank in Mt. Sterling and wanted to deposit the amount in his son's name.

The grand jury will investigate the cases this week, and still more sensational developments are expected at any hour.

Hartman Theater

With the real stamp of success comes Henrietta Crossman and her company direct from New York in "The Real Thing", the comedy that has been playing at the Maxine Elliott Theater for months. "The Real Thing" is the kind of a play that will please everybody. There is a laugh for every minute of the two hours and a half and a theme that is appealing to all. Miss Crossman for the first time in her career has with her two children in the cast who are not only really children, but who are clever, in fact, perfect little artists. The case is the same as that which played in New York City for so many months and the play comes with a reputation of the best that has been seen in years. This attraction will be seen at the Hartman for one night only, Thursday, Jan. 25th.

BABY TORTURED BY ITCHING

Its Suffering Keeps Whole Family Awake.

Try This Remedy at Our Risk
Children with eczema not only cannot sleep, on account of the awful itching, but their crying keeps parents and other members of the family awake.

The relief they long for can be had by applying Saxon Salve, our new skin remedy. It stops the terrible itching at once and makes them comfortable. Then they and the rest of the family get a chance to sleep.

Saxon Salve does more than give relief. It is a harmless yet powerful healing remedy and sinks into the diseased skin, destroying the germ and soon clearing away all signs of the eruption, leaving the skin soft and smooth. Marked improvement is noticed in the first few days of treatment.

If Saxon Salve does not do all we claim, we give back your money. Blackmer & Tanquary, Druggists, Washington C. H., Ohio.

James C. E. Baughn and A. C. West appeared before the Board of City Commissioners Tuesday morning, which was the time appointed for a hearing of the exceptions filed against the Board of Memorial Hall trustees. Only a few spectators were present to hear the proceedings.

Attorney Baughn stated the cause he represented in as few words as possible and was informed by President Ford of the Board of Commissioners that he believed the Common Pleas court should first pass on the matter in hand, and that the Commissioners had nothing to do with it until the Court first took action. Commissioners Brown and Weaver were also of the opinion that the Common Pleas court should pass upon the case.

PRELIMINARY SKIRMISH WARM

Rapid Crossfire of Questions and Answers is About All That Was Accomplished.

Amey C. E. Baughn and A. C. West appeared before the Board of Commissioners Tuesday morning which was the time appointed for a hearing of the exceptions filed against the Board of Memorial Hall trustees. Only a few spectators were present to hear the proceedings.

Attorney Baughn stated the cause is represented in no few words as possible, and was informed by President Ford of the Board of Commissioners that he believed the Common Pleas court should first pass on the matter in hand, and that the Commissioners had nothing to do with it until the Court first took action. Commissioners Brown and Weaver were also of the opinion that the Common Pleas court should pass upon the case.

Attorney Baughn then asked that a vote be taken upon the matter of hearing the objections, and the result spread upon the minutes. President Ford held that this was unnecessary, and then expressed himself as being glad to see a spirit of scrutiny in the affairs of the Board of Commissioners, and wished it could extend into the legislature and other such bodies.

Mr. Baughn when asked by Commissioner Weaver, stated that all of his papers and evidence in the case had been destroyed by fire, and said he himself had really wanted to continue the case on this account.

Attention was called to the fact that none of the signers of the original complaint were present so far as known, and Baughn stated that they could be summoned at any time. He also said that very few of the petitioners knew positively to what they were objecting, or words to that effect.

Commissioner Ford pointed out how no soldiers would object to having their names placed upon the memorial tablets in the building, and was assured by Mr. Baughn that he could find plenty of them, and that some of the names to be placed upon the tablets were those of deserters. This drew the reply from Mr. Ford that he did not believe those who had the compiling of names in charge could have recommended such names.

Col. B. G. Millikan, who was the only member of the former Board of Memorial Hall trustees present, then asked Mr. Baughn why if the money had been held illicitly by the Memorial Hall Trustees, that the court required the trustees to give such heavy bond, and also asked that Mr. Baughn be allowed all the time he wanted, considering that his papers had been burned. He further said it did not make any difference to the Trustees where the case was tried, either before the commissioners or the Common Pleas court.

Baughn then asked the Commissioners to say they would not consider the matter before the court took action, and wanted a vote upon it, but was assured a vote was not necessary. With this Mr. Baughn, who was accompanied by A. C. West, withdrew and the meeting came to an end, so far as the hearing assigned for Tuesday, before the Commissioners was concerned.

This coffee goodness escapes from coffee kept in open bins or sold by peddlers. Such coffee is stale, pulpy—dusty and you get much less of coffee goodness than you pay for—no matter what price is asked.

Your Grocer will tell you—if he is experienced and conscientious—that we have set forth a great coffee truth. He will show you the Golden Sun Table of Tastes so that you can choose from five different blends, the flavor you like above all others. See him today.

Notes of Sportdom

Hunting out of the ring seems to have become quite a fad among certain wrestlers of the heavy weight division.

We are told that Virginia raised 12,000,000 bushels of peanuts last year. Another successful baseball season is predicted.

If Hank O'Day makes good as a bench warmer at Cincinnati he will be set down as one of the seven wonder workers of the age.

Percy L. Wendell of Boston was elected captain of the Harvard football eleven for 1912. Wendell has played half back for two years.

Will John M. Ward, who always has been a friend of the man in the ranks, "see" the player's side now that he has become a magnate?

Most major league magnates are becoming converts to the advanced thought in agriculture—that is, scientific "farming" on a gigantic scale.

"No more umpire baiting for me," said Manager Breanahan of the St. Louis Cardinals. He has learned he can get more in the end by turning the other cheek.

Clark Griffith puts Charles Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, first among the greatest ball players of all time. Maybe Griffith had in mind the all around championship.

Just for the purpose of keeping interest in baseball from lagging the managers are beginning to talk about sending their teams away for spring practice. It is very exciting.

There is one person who is not bothered by talk of a baseball war, and he is the player. He is sure of a position, anyway, and maybe a boost in salary if worse comes to worse.

Hub Hedges of the St. Louis Browns is not boasting of trailing the Athletics in 1912. Hedges is staying up nights figuring out schemes to emerge from the bottom of the heap.

James Gaffney, prominent politician of New York, a brother-in-law of Charles F. Murphy, boss of Tammany hall, is the new works behind the throne of the Boston National league club.

FOUND RIGLER'S WEAK POINT

Manager McGraw Soon Learned How Proud Umpire Was of His Teutonic Blood—Was Soon Chased.

Umpire Rigler is proud of his Teutonic blood. He is one of the best umpires in the business, and had much to do with dispelling the belief that it was necessary to be Irish to be a successful arbitrator.

No one learned sooner than Manager McGraw how proud Rigler was of his extraction, and no one was quicker to try him out when he joined the National league staff.

Rigler's early work was done on the Polo grounds, and it was not all milk and honey, either.

A number of close decisions against the Giants made McGraw peevish. He made objections which Rigler passed by. Finally, when a particularly close one went against the team, McGraw yelled:

"You call yourself Rigler. Why don't you go under your real name. I wouldn't be ashamed of Rigelheimer if it was really my name. If you're a German, I'm a Swede."

McGraw no longer doubts that Rigler is sensitive on this point, for he made a quick trip to the club house.

WANT BASEBALL MADE SAFER

Officials of Game Expected to Make Changes in Playing Rules—Many Players Injured.

It is thought probable the National commission and the directors of the National and American league will have to come together and modify the diamond rules so that there will be fewer accidents in the future. Such a move had to be made in football, with the result that last season was practically free from serious injuries.

Of the two games—baseball and football—the former appears to be the more strenuous now, judging by the long list of players who have been hurt this season.

Never before in the history of the game have there been so many players obliged to remain out from injuries, many of which have been serious enough to cause alarm.

Most of the accidents have been caused by base running. The game has become so fast and inside ball has become so highly developed that success really seems to hinge upon ability to run the bases. Sliding into bases has resulted in a number of bad injuries.

Probably the player who has been the most dangerously hurt of any in the game is Frank Chance, manager of the Cubs. He was struck in the head by a pitched ball early in the season and the doctors told him he could never play again.

WALLACE REMAINS AT HEAD

St. Louis Browns Give Promise of Playing Strong Game Under His Leadership Next Year.

All the American league teams have chosen leaders for next season except the St. Louis Browns, and it is asserted by an official of that club that Bobby Wallace will succeed himself as leader of that organization.

"Wallace failed to finish above last place," said this official, "but what manager on earth could have gone through the season higher with the material at hand? I consider that Wallace has made a success of his management, although his men are still rail-enders.

There is no denying the St. Louis team was going well at the close of the season. We gave all the teams a run for their money in the closing days of the schedule. Wallace was instrumental in getting several players of class for the club. Kutina looks good at first base for next season. That always has been a weak spot on the Browns. Wallace has tried out thirteen men at that post this season. He let them all go except Kutina. His judgment proved good for Kutina has steadily improved as a first sacker and may make some of the critics sit up and pay attention next season. The Browns secured several pitchers of promise toward the close of the season who look good for next year.

Motive.

"Why do you insist on asking that young man to sing?"
"Because," replied Miss Cayenne, "when he's singing he isn't trying to converse."

HOW FAMOUS ATHLETES DETERIORATE

"A man attains his greatest strength between the ages of twenty-seven and thirty-two. Then he begins to go back. He does not necessarily lose his strength, but he is not as agile as formerly and he tires more quickly."

Such was the remark made by Frank Gotch, the world's wrestling champion, while in Cleveland on an exhibition tour recently. Continuing, he said:

"That fits my case exactly. I am as strong, perhaps stronger, than I ever was before, but I am getting slower. The 'old getthere' spirit is not present. In the old days when a man tore into me I would have torn right into him, but now I merely sidestep and bide my time."

"That is why I have made up my mind to quit the game in the near future. If I keep at it long enough some man will come along who will down me. Of course, if some logical opponent shows up in the next few months, I will take him on, but it will have to be soon as I intend to quit a champion. I shall not meet with Jim Jeffries' fate. Jim lost because he was a mere shell of his former self. He had the strength but not the speed nor the ability to withstand punishment that he had had once. In his former fights he was always punished severely but he could stand it. When he fought Johnson he couldn't, and that is all there was to it."

But that never will be my fate. Not for every one that Jeffries got at Reno would I go through what he did before and after that fight, particularly afterward. I intend to quit with the respect of the public and settle down and live the simple life. I have enough money laid aside now, and do not need to wrestle any longer. Why should I continue? Zyzsako? No, I will not meet him. Why should I? I tackled him once and made him look cheap, and he has done nothing since to entitle him to a return bout."

ANXIOUS FOR BIGGER SCORES

Football Men Want to Change Rules So Higher Counts Can Be Made Possible—Some Suggestions.

Football experts at the college club, their number including several of the official rulemakers, are pretty well agreed that some radical changes in the rules will be necessary before the next season. The chief clamor for reform is a demand for plays which will allow more scoring. Possibly this relief will be found by returning to a 5-yard gain for first down inside the 25-yard line, by increasing the number of downs allowed to gain 10 yards to four, or by allowing first down after a 7 instead of a 10-yard gain.

Games at Cambridge and Philadelphia show the inefficiency of the new rules. The Army-Navy game showed little football except kicking. Dalton's too carried the day. Yale and Harvard dabbled with all the wrinkles of the new game, but had to resort to kicking. This constant punting becomes very monotonous to the spectator. It has entirely changed the complexion of American football. The punt was originally put into the game not as a feature play, but as a last resort when the ball could be carried no further by the players. Under the present rules the kick is the main thing and the game becomes a kicking contest between two men, with the chance of picking up a fumble the chief reliance for touchdowns scoring.

Touchdowns, it is pointed out, are more satisfactory than field goals; they are what the players and spectators would rather see. They represent more football skill, more team skill and more actual football ability. What is wanted of the rulemakers this winter is a game which will not further increase the risk of injuries, but which will bestow some degree of finality in advancing the ball.
